UH-CTAHR’s Cooperative Extension and the County of Hawaii welcomes you to two hands-on coffee grafting workshops. These workshops are a response to grower requests as well as a project objective of a County-funded grant proposal, titled "the long-term responses of coffee rootstocks to root-knot nematode in Kona".

The goal of this workshop is teach growers about the importance of grafted trees and how to graft coffee trees.

During this hands-on workshop, participants will learn about the coffee root-knot nematode project and the basics of coffee grafting. Then, they will watch a demonstration of coffee grafting by Mr. Kraig Lee, and following, will practice their learned skills with coffee rootstocks and scions provided.

Speakers include: Dr. Roxana Myers of USDA; Dr. Alyssa Cho, Dr. Stuart T. Nakamoto and Andrea Kawabata of CTAHR; and Kraig Lee of Kona Farm Direct
